

HOSPICE FAMILIES GET A GRAND DAY OUT

Families that use Rachel House hospice enjoyed a taste of the high life earlier this year with a special flight around Tayside when Forster donated the flight to the Hospice. Providing support for 2 separate charities, the half hour ScotAirways flight was bought at a charity auction raising money for the Maggie's Centre. "It was an absolutely brilliant experience for the adults and children" exclaimed Alison Blair, CHAS Activities Organiser. "The Hospice's services are also extended to bereaved families, and some of the people on the flight had recently lost family members. So it was nice to bring some joy back into their lives and make them feel good about enjoying themselves again".
