

Supporting the work of HOMES FOR SCOTLAND

improving living in scotland

The focus of this year's Awards – was 'Designing Places', embracing the Government's place-making agenda. A record number of entries for this year's Urban, Rural and Masterplanning categories were received and over 750 guests from across the home building industry were in attendance. Jim Mackinnon, Scotland's Chief Planner and headed the judging panel. "We continually look to support the work of Homes for Scotland in creating greater awareness of the huge impact housebuilding has on the Scottish economy through celebrating the successes within our sector", explained Forster Chairman, John Forster. To view the full Homes for Scotland Press Release and to find out more about their work visit www.homesforscotland.com/

For the second consecutive year Forster sponsored an award at the Homes for Scotland Quality Awards Lunch in May.

Pictured, From left to right Forster Chairman, John Forster with Sally Magnusson and Gerry More from CALA Homes winners of the Rural Large Award at this years Homes for Scotland Quality Awards.